According to IDC, the global smart phone market grew 74 percent in 2010. 2011 research indicates that over 83% of US adults have cell phones and over 42% own smart phones. Today, 68% of smart phone users access the internet daily. This staggeringly rapid adoption represents a profound change in consumer behavior and expectations. Billers must respond with payment and billing solutions designed specifically for mobile-enabled customers.
